

LOS ANGELES DAILY TIMES.
(County Official Paper.)By TARNELL, CASTLE, MATHEWS & OTIS.
Office No. 9 Temple Street.

Publishers' Announcements.

THE LOS ANGELES DAILY TIMES has a regular, permanent, bona fide subscription list of over 10,000 copies, and is the only paper published in Los Angeles that makes that of all the other daily papers here added together. This claim we are prepared to substantiate.

FOR ADVERTISING IN THE TIMES we are prepared to make special rates of price, based on the circulation, not on the price charged by or paid to other papers.

THE TIMES can be found at the news stands of the Pacific and Occidental Hotels and East Hotel, San Francisco.

THE TIMES OFFICE is connected with the telephone system of this city, and those desiring to advertise in this paper for this paper, can do so by this means.

TEN DOLLARS REWARD.—The proprietors of the TIMES will pay a reward of $10 for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of any person guilty of the crime of murder.

CORRESPONDENCE on live topics invited from all quarters. Local affairs and news given the preference. Correspondents are asked to submit articles, letters, etc., in plain, concise and timely language, to use one of the short only, to be published, and to send real names. Editors are not responsible for the return of contributions.

PRINTING.—There is nothing in the printing line which the TIMES-MIRROR Printing and Binding and Binding House can do that is not done in the best manner and at the lowest price.

BOOK-BINDING.—Books, magazines and pamphlets bound in Turkish leather, Morocco cloth, sheepskin, or any other material, in the TIMES-MIRROR Binding House. Our work is guaranteed to be equal to that done in San Francisco.

WAGE CONTRASTS.

That very intelligent and capable statistician, Robert P. Porter, has reached the pottery district in England and continues the record of his investigations into the condition of English laborers in his last letter to the New York Tribune. It shows the same general situation of poverty and misery as has already been related by him of the people engaged in other English industries. Speaking of the general appearance of potters' quarters, Mr. Porter says:

"On all sides of the waste ground are little streets, with old and miserable houses, in which the potters live. We walked up and down scores of these streets in all the towns and found them much the same. The wages paid the great bulk of the potters only permit of their paying from 2s 6d to 3s (75 cents) a week house rent. They live in one room, in which washing and ironing, eating and, not infrequently, sleeping are done. The majority of the houses on these streets are anything but tidy and cheerful. Slovenly women and dirty, ragged children came to the doors of the houses as we passed along, and the mere fact of three or four respectable men walking through these streets excited the astonishment of the entire neighborhood, and a curious crowd followed at our heels."

Mr. Porter also gives a table of the average wages received by the operatives at Trenton, as compared with the wages received by American workmen, as follows:

	Am. wage	Eng. wage
Flat presser	11 1/2	9 1/2
Churn maker	11 1/2	9 1/2
Shedder maker	11 1/2	9 1/2
Hand-bearer	11 1/2	9 1/2
Roller	11 1/2	9 1/2
Printer	11 1/2	9 1/2
Coverman	11 1/2	9 1/2
Shedder maker	11 1/2	9 1/2
Mold maker	11 1/2	9 1/2
Turner	11 1/2	9 1/2
Handler	11 1/2	9 1/2

Total average per man per week, $1.16 to $1.50.

These wages rates serve to illustrate in a most vivid manner the wide difference between the respective conditions of English and American workmen, and constitute a strong argument for the American protective policy.

The Times begs to invite the attention of free-trade Democrats to these significant figures. Let them ponder on these ponderous facts.

THE MILK, ETC.

The afternoon edition of the Los Angeles Herald, otherwise called the Evening Express, "a tail to another kite," a paper always unhappy, is again disgruntled at the Times, as usual. It takes umbrage at our strictures upon the lack of hospitality exhibited by certain officials and persons whose manifest duty it was to show, or offer to show, some proper and courteous attentions to the distinguished visitors who have just left us.

The evening edition, as usual, resorts to misrepresentation, or else it is more than ordinarily stupid. It says the Times has been "lecturing the people of Los Angeles" on "true politeness." The evening edition is wrong there. It does not seem to be capable of distinguishing any difference between "the people" and a few individuals. It should understand that "our honored Mayor" and a few partisan satellites, however pretentious, do not constitute "the people." Far from it. On the contrary, quite the reverse. The evening edition seems to think that the beginning and the end of hospitality to strangers and guests consists in displaying before them fireworks and brass bands, and firing off alleged oratory at their unprotected heads, for it says that Messrs. Davis, Dorsheimer and Dana "no doubt felt very much relieved that they were neither called upon to respond to fulsome compliment nor bothered with the beating of drums and blare of trumpets," and it is "glad that our people did not consider it necessary to pay them the poor compliment of supposing that their highest pleasure could only be secured by getting up a spectacular performance for their benefit." Did the Times suggest any of these several devices for entertaining our late guests? Not any. There are other ways of exhibiting hospitality towards visitors, though the evening edition does not seem to be aware of them. The brass-band business would be just the thing for the Confederate Cross Roads.

The real secret of the evening edition's sensitiveness to the deserved strictures which the people and the Times have been passing upon the inequities and delinquencies in question obviously lies in its partisan bias. It is a pretended "independent" affair, but this community long since found out the hollowness of that bald-headed pretense. Its instincts and its inspiration are Bourbon Democratic; hence it obediently has listened to the defense of that Democratic municipal officer—Mr. Mayor Thom, if you please—who has been the object of no little sharp criticism during the last few days—not by the Times alone or specially, but by "the people." This is the actual secretion that lies within the shell of the oocoon and the Express.

The man who is always boasting of speaking his mind, usually has the least mind to speak.

W. T. WARD, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, has given it as his opinion that Chinese children cannot be admitted to the public schools. For this he is taken to task by a Democratic newspaper, the San Bernardino Times, which says:

"Under our treaty with China we guarantee to that nation all the rights and privileges enjoyed by the most favored nations, and while no one can admit that the influx of this barbarian horde is other than a detriment to us, and that they have the best end of the bargain, it is a piece of bad faith on our part to refuse what we have pledged ourselves to grant. We make the Chinese here pay taxes for the support of our public schools and at the same time refuse to allow them to have any of the benefits of their taxation. There are so few Chinese children who seek admission into the public schools that little is to be feared from their uprising too much time and attention, while in a strict justice, if the Chinese are compelled to pay taxes for the support of our schools, they should be allowed to send their few children they have to them if they desire. We fear that Mr. Wicker in his decision is bordering a little on demagoguery, and is pandering to popular clamor against the despised race."

It looks so.

Our Ventura letter, which will be found fresh and readable, contains a timely reference to the advantages which would accrue to Los Angeles by the construction of a railroad through the Santa Clara valley from the sea to a connection with the Southern Pacific at Newhall, or direct to this city by a route nearer the ocean. The practicality of diverting the large and growing trade of the Santa Clara valley to this point is again pointed out, as it has been pointed out by the Times frequently before. Reference is made to the fact that while we have been absorbed in the enterprise of reaching out for the trade of Arizona, we have neglected a lucrative trade having its source almost at our very door.

This is a pertinent point that our people should think of. We need rail communication with the Santa Clara valley, and the Santa Clara valley needs rail connection with Los Angeles. These mutual needs cannot go unprovided for any length of time. The railroad must be built, for it is a necessity.

Now comes the season when the horny-handed agitator commences his talk, laboring to organize labor strikes. A convention has been in session at Pittsburg, and the most determined efforts were made by the demagogues to incite a strike among the iron workers. The move met with opposition from delegates who remembered their sad experiences in that direction. Workmen are slowly, though too slowly, finding out that a strike is almost always the very poorest possible remedy for any grievance which they may have. Self-interest induces their attendant suffering and inseparable evils, is something to be shunned by every man who depends for his livelihood and the support of his family upon the proceeds of his daily toil. There are many things more calamitous than low wages.

EX-PRESIDENT HAYES has been pressed by enthusiastic friends to again become a candidate for Governor of Ohio, but he has assured them in an emphatic manner that he will not accept the nomination under any circumstances. He held the office three terms, and was never defeated in a gubernatorial race.

CURRENT NOTES AND COMMENTS.

A Jeffersonville, Ind., young lady imported a pair of roller skates from Europe made expressly for her order. The steamer that brought them over carried no other ballast.

There is a supply of cognomen in the world sufficient to suit both sexes, but when it comes to naming the first baby the selection appears as meager as the purse of the proud parent.

A woman at Medina, Ohio, coughed more or less for nineteen years before she threw up a shirt button and found relief. And it might not have come then had she not fallen down.

In a comparison of library statistics, Boston, with a population of 263,000, has 638,000 volumes; Cincinnati, with 255,000 inhabitants, 168,000; Brooklyn, with 400,000 inhabitants, has only 96,000 volumes.

The New York Legislature has just adopted a bill prohibiting fishing on Sunday. It is a matter for great surprise that such thoroughly devoted Christians as the Albany lawmakers should have tolerated this practice so long.

The definition of "gentleman" is given as "a human being combining a woman's tenderness with a man's courage." This is new to us. We have always understood the term "gentleman" to mean "a traveling salesman wearing a plug hat."—Kansas City Journal.

The Graphic's "Man About Town" begins a satirique in this way: "How do I make a gorgeous meal for twenty cents? Let me tell you." There are men whose entire education is an ample feast—ample but leafy.

One of the workmen engaged in removing the decorations at the Vanderbilt mansion after the ball, found a piece of glass, which the night before was worn by a lady whom the New York papers mentioned as being distinguished for her "superb diamonds."

What Rich Men Believe.

Gath in the New York Tribune.]

"Why do these rich men on the Pacific Coast," said I, "want to come to the United States Senate?"

"They merely obey a law in every man's nature who has been successful in some one thing, namely: to believe that they know everything about everything else. Those men have been rich. They think that is all there is to life, and that if they can get into the public councils—where they can work a change in other men's views, who will just sit down and hear them. They are entirely unaware that a man may be the richest person in the land and still have the least influence, and, perhaps, the least happiness."

The Dismal Swamp.

The horny-handed sons of toil are invading the domains of Old Dismal Swamp very rapidly, and converting his morasses into fertile fields. It is penetrated by canals and tramroads in every direction, and soon Lake Drummond will be drained, and cultivation will conquer the last impediment to the entire territory being brought under subjection to the uses of man.

A Fortunate Town.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.]

There is a fortunate town in southern Los Angeles which boasts of 800 inhabitants, and yet has no lawyer, doctor, constable, or Justice of the Peace. As a measure of precaution to preserve this idyllic peace we refrain from giving its name.

[It is San Juan Capistrano; "but for goodness sake, don't say I told you!"]
